About 1938, L-R brother's Ellis and George Pierce. Probably taken at the Temple house in Totowa NJ. Albin and Mabel were living there temporarily.

ca 1944 L-R son George A. Pierce, father Albin Pierce and brother-in-law Mart Murphy. Albin and Mart married Temple sisters. Looks like they had a hard day working on Albin's home.
In latter years, the TV was in this livingroom corner where the wardrobe is behind Albin.

1943 George Pierce working with his grandfather Charles Small Pierce

1943 Charles Small Pierce with grandson George at a Montclair fishstore. Charles occasionally emptied the furnace ashes.

Place is now the Penn Federal Savings bank.

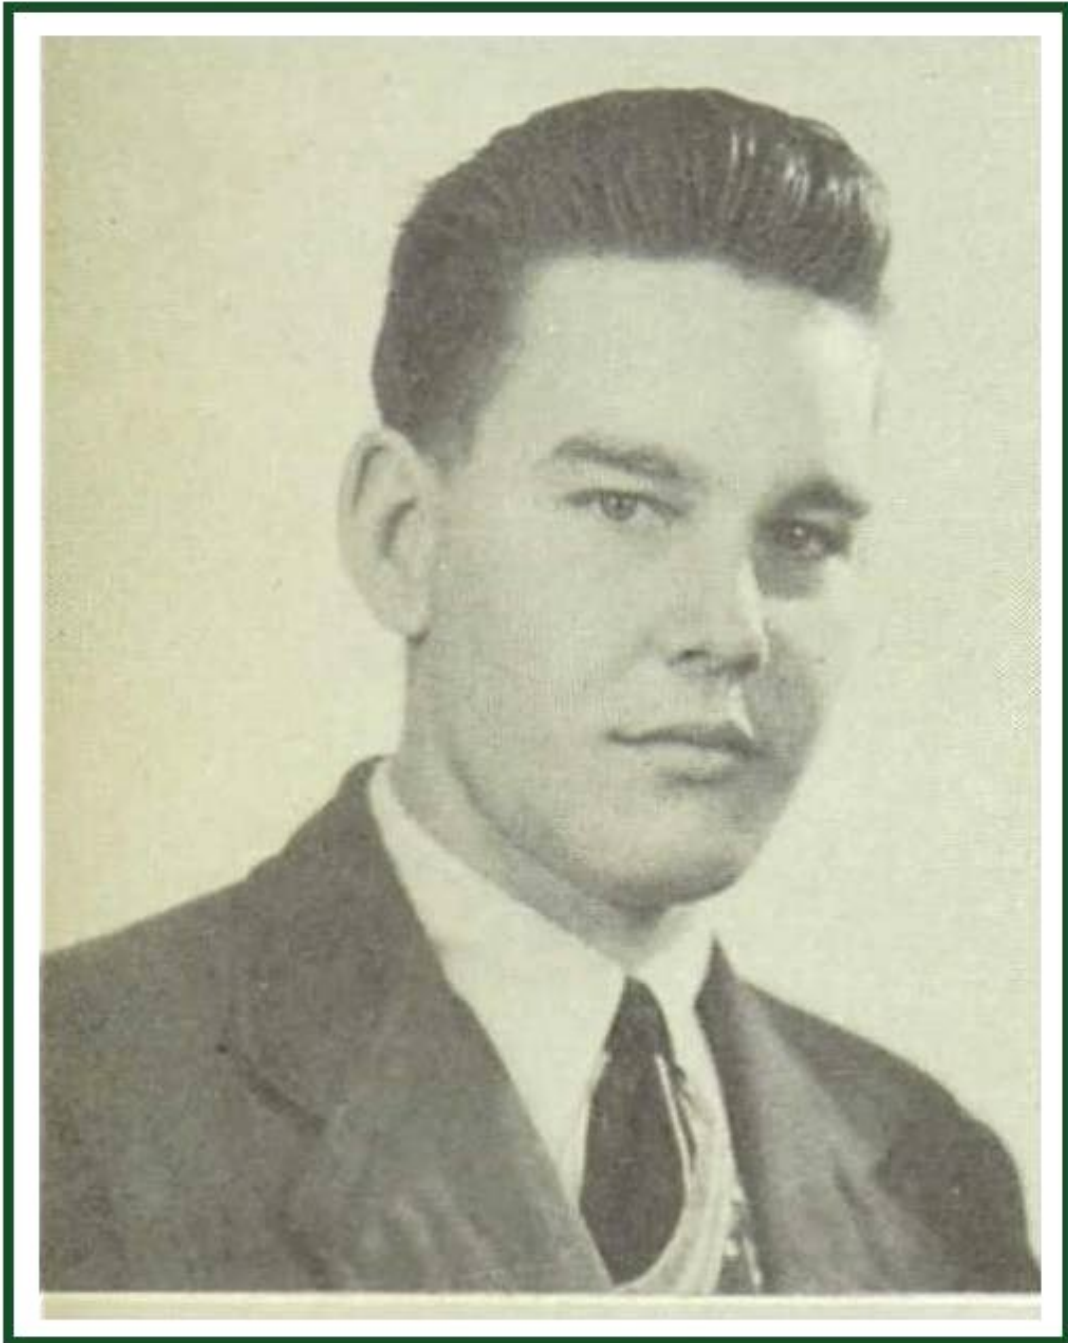

ca 1946 Fairfield NJ. George Arnold Pierce in dark coat with Al Sisco.
Al had just come home from the Navy.

Unfortunately, Al Sisco played a role in making inaccurate Hillside Cemetery driveway measurements. He made the driveway appear as 25 feet wide on the maps. Al married a nice Romano gal.

While in town hall around 2002, Al came up to me and expressed how I was wrong about the 25 feet. I had never met him before.

Around 2003, when the Romano lawyer, his cousin, threatened to remove tombstone that were within the 25 feet, I had to convince the NJ Cemetery Board of the error. I anticipated that by bringing pics and maps to Newark. The Board did not accept the Romano proposal. The cemetery driveway averages about 8 feet wide.

George Arnold Pierce, 1949 ? Caldwell High School.

About 1946. Joe and George Pierce. Likely taken at 16 Glen Ave, Fairfield NJ.
